29th IRAN INTERNATIONAL OIL, GAS, REFINING & PETROCHEMICAL EXHIBITION

Message of Mohammad Ali Dehghan-Dehnavi Deputy Minister of Industry, Mine and Trade and Head of Iran Trade Promotion Organization

Focus on Attracting Investment in the Oil, Gas, and Petrochemical Industry Trade events play a significant and impactful role in showcasing the country's production and industrial capabilities. In fact, these exhibitions provide a platform for communication and the development of economic cooperation with other countries. Increasing the added value of industries, job creation, and economic growth and development are among the positive outcomes of holding regular and high-quality specialized exhibitions. In this regard, the quantitative and qualitative development and the high-standard organization of specialized exhibitions are on the agenda of the Iran Trade Promotion Organization. As the authority responsible for foreign trade, the Iran Trade Promotion Organization places special emphasis on holding high-quality specialized exhibitions in line with developing non-oil exports, and it recognizes the importance of trade events in increasing exports. The oil industry, as the oldest industry in the country, has played a fundamental and key role in Iran's economy since its inception, and this position continues to this day. As a country endowed with vast oil and gas resources, Iran is prepared to attract domestic and foreign investment to modernize and upgrade its energy infrastructure. It appears that the Iran International Oil, Gas, Refining, and Petrochemical Exhibition can serve as a platform for attracting foreign investment in new energy sectors such as petrochemicals, renewable energies, hydrogen technologies, and more. However, alongside enhancing capabilities in the production and export of oil, gas, and petrochemical products, we must also focus on the development of non-oil exports and move beyond the sale of raw materials. Undoubtedly, the 29th Iran International Oil, Gas, Refining, and Petrochemical Exhibition provides a platform to showcase the capabilities of domestic and international companies, from exploration and drilling to refining and petrochemical sectors. Moreover, the presence of knowledge-based companies, startups, and academic centers alongside major players in the industry has turned this exhibition into a dynamic space for innovation. Additionally, the Tehran International Oil and Gas Exhibition creates an opportunity to attract foreign investment and expand export markets for Iranian products.

Message Of Dr. Sadif Beikzadeh
Member Of The Board Of Directors And Managing Director Of The Islamic Republic Of Iran International Exhibitions Company

Energy is the backbone of the global economy. In today's world, economic growth, social welfare, and industrial development of nations are heavily dependent on sustainable, affordable, and secure access to energy resources. Among these, oil and gas, as the primary sources of global energy supply, continue to play a dominant role in the global energy mix. Developments in global energy markets, geopolitical shifts, and environmental requirements have further highlighted the strategic importance of oil and gas and underscored the need for smart planning for the sustainable use of these resources. The oil, gas, refining, and petrochemical industries, as vital drivers of Iran's economy, play a fundamental role in production, employment, exports, and attracting investment. With the world's largest combined oil and gas reserves, Iran has always been one of the key players in the global energy market. If this immense capacity is utilized in a targeted and intelligent manner, it can elevate the country's position in the global energy value chain and secure a larger share in regional and international markets. Developing technological infrastructure, attracting foreign investment, enhancing efficiency, adopting international standards, diversifying the petrochemical product portfolio, and establishing effective links between industry, academia, and knowledge-based companies are among the most important strategies for advancing this strategic industry. One of the most effective tools for trade development in today's world is the organization and participation in specialized exhibitions. In this regard, the Islamic Republic of Iran International Exhibitions Company has taken significant steps toward promoting non-oil exports and diversifying target markets through the organization of specialized exhibitions. By leveraging experienced personnel, the company offers a wide range of exhibition services, including technical and executive services: design and construction of standard booths, electrical and telecommunications installations, security facilities, welfare and catering services, transportation, insurance, and more to visitors, exhibitors, and participants. The 29th Iran International Oil, Gas, Refining, and Petrochemical Exhibition is one of the key international exhibition events in the West Asia region, held annually with the participation of numerous capable domestic and international companies. This major event showcases the capabilities and achievements of dedicated and skilled producers and industrialists in the country's oil industry. It serves as a meeting point for supply and demand of advanced technology and services in one of the country's most strategic industries. To maximize the benefits of this event, a variety of side programs have been arranged, including the invitation of economic and trade delegations from target countries to enhance bilateral cooperation, and the organization of expert panels on contemporary industry topics. This major industrial and commercial event provides an excellent opportunity for companies and stakeholders to unveil their latest achievements and products and become acquainted with the newest advancements in this important industry. Undoubtedly, active and well-prepared participation in this exhibition paves the way for the growth and development of companies in this sector. The successful organization of this exhibition is due to the valuable cooperation and support of participants, organizations, ministries, chambers of commerce, unions, and industrial and commercial associations. I sincerely thank and appreciate the efforts and collaboration of all involved in organizing this exhibition and hope that this event will be an effective step toward the development and progress of our beloved Iran.

Message of Saman Ghodoosi

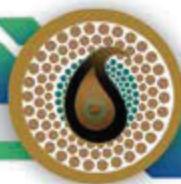

Public Relations Director, National Iranian Oil Company

Manager of the 29th International Oil, Gas, Refining, and Petrochemical Exhibition

The 29th International Oil Industry Exhibition: Paving the Way for "Economic Growth and Development" The International Oil, Gas, Refining, and Petrochemical Exhibition, as Iran's largest exhibition event, stands as a tangible example of the Iranian nation's determination to achieve progress in the oil industry and serves as a benchmark for measuring the success of the Islamic Republic of Iran in the global energy trade.

Undoubtedly, the strong presence of various sectors of industry professionals and potential investors at the 29th Oil Industry Exhibition—including equipment manufacturers, contractors, consultants, knowledge-based companies, universities and scientific centers, startups, and accelerators—presents a valuable opportunity to showcase the indigenous capabilities of industry leaders while fostering collaboration among upstream, midstream, and downstream sectors of the oil industry. Through synergy and the collective application of expertise, we can achieve further growth and advancement for both the oil industry and our beloved Iran. The slogan of the 29th International Oil Industry Exhibition, as in previous years, is derived from the overarching policies of the state and the mandates and priorities of the Ministry of Petroleum in implementing these policies. Investment in the Oil Industry: Investment in the Oil Industry Ensures Economic Growth and Development". This key slogan encapsulates all the defined priorities and focal points for the activities of the country's oil industry. Accordingly, this year's exhibition aims to hold specialized sessions centered on the annual theme, introduce major achievements of the oil industry, and highlight opportunities for partnership and investment across various sectors of this foundational industry to key stakeholders. At this year's exhibition, over 2,000 capable domestic and international companies will showcase their products and expertise in the oil industry. One notable point worth mentioning is the remarkable enthusiasm among companies to participate in this year's exhibition. As a result, five additional halls have been allocated to the exhibition space. Despite efforts to optimize the layout and maximize the use of available space, it was not possible to accommodate all interested companies. Nevertheless, this overwhelming response alone reflects the dynamic and constructive environment among companies and the competitive spirit of oil industry stakeholders—an essential and practical factor for the comprehensive advancement of this strategic industry. Another distinctive feature of the 29th International Oil, Gas, Refining, and Petrochemical Exhibition is its focus on knowledge-based companies and startups, highlighted through specialized seminars, conferences, and numerous scientific and research meetings. These events are designed in line with the policies and approaches adopted to promote technological advancement and the growth of indigenous knowledge. Efforts have been made to create a suitable platform for constructive and ongoing interaction between knowledge-based companies and key sectors of the oil industry, fostering an environment conducive to technological collaboration. Another innovation at this year's exhibition is the AI-powered virtual exhibition, implemented for the first time in this edition, aiming to align the oil industry with technological advancements in this field. In closing, I would like to express my gratitude to all those involved in organizing this exhibition. It is my hope that the objectives of this grand oil and gas industry event—such as creating an investment-friendly environment, facilitating private sector participation in the country's oil industry, maximizing support for private sector players, and enabling the transfer of technology and innovation across various industrial sectors—are fully realized.
